For as I write sweet thoughts arise Of times when all thy kindness lent A thousand hues of Paradise To the fleet moments as they went; Then all thy thoughts were winged with light; And every smile was calm and sweet, And thy low tones and gentle words Made the warm heart's blood thrill and beat.

There, standing in our Nation's home, My memory ever pictures thee as some bright dame of ancient Rome, Modest, yet all a queen should be; love to keep thee in my mind, Thus mated with the pure of old, When love, with lofty deeds combined. Made women great and warriors bold

LIVE FEATHERS.

An editors tells a good story of peregrinations "down south." He was a young lawyer in attendance upon court, and the village where the court was held was thronged to overflowing. Having, with some difficulty, however, procured a bed, he jumped in o i:but he was out again in almost no time. "What kind of bed do you call this?" said he to the negro who officiated as master of the ceremonies. " Feather bed; Masse." " Feathers-I should think it containel entire chickens." " Can't be dat are fifty-dollar-nigger, Sam, trow de chick'n in!" murmured the waiter dubiously, as he proceeded to insinuate his hand into the coarse bagging tick. "Squash if he habn't tho' !" said he, as he pulled forth a partly picked rooster. "I tole de stuped jack-behind dis mornin,' when he was featherin' chick'ns for dinner, to empty de feathers in de fuss class beds to prove de kerwality; and de blind ni ger oberlook de chick'n! In de hurry ob business; massa," he continued in an apologetic tone, "dese little accidums can't always be avided. We had a dozen niggers trimmin' chickins all de time, and 'casionally a foot or head am oberlooked in de fedders when we put um 'way in de beds, but dis 'ere are de fust time I eber foun' a hull

A Challenge .- A little fop conceiving himself insulted by a gentleman who had ventured to give him a little wholesome advice; strutted up to him with an air of importance, saying : "Sir, you are no gentleman-here is my card, consider yourself challenged. Should I be from home when you honor me with a call, I shall leave word with a friend to settle the preliminaries to your satisfaction." To which the other replied-" Sir, you are a fool-here is my card, and should I not be at home when you call on me, you will find ESSENTIAL FOR PRODUCTIVE that I have left orders with my servant to kick you into the street."

Peas! Peas!-A Northern paper relates the following incident:

While sitting in a restaurat a few months since, we were amused at a hit made by a wag. It was in the early season of green peas, and they were so generally called for, that the supply gave out.

· Peas! Peas!' was the call long after here were none left.

The Yankee .- You can always tell a Yankee by the jack knife in his hand, or the cithis place. He will take pleasure in showing of grass, weeds, those pests, which prove gar in his mouth. The Yankees are curious characters.
